Common Ways to Save Money on Teen Car Insurance

Drivers education

Knowledge is power so many insurance carriers will provide a discount if a newly licensed driver takes a driver's education course.

Good student

Most insurance companies provide a discount for students who have at least a B average.

Electronic monitoring

Some insurance companies offer a discount if you adhere to safe driving habits as verified by an electronic monitoring device that plugs into your car's diagnostic port.

Away at school without a car

If your young driver attends a boarding school or college more than 100 miles away, be sure to tell your insurance company.
